

NEED TWO MORE PAID FIREMEN

LOCAL, FOBC NOT ADEQUATE FOR EMERGENCIES.

E. B. HEIMSTREET TALKS

On General Conditions Pertaining to Department in This City—Suggests
Another Man at Each Station.

"If I am not mistaken the number of paid men in the fire department has not been increased for ten years," said E. B. Heimstreet last evening. "Of course that in itself is no argument for an increase now. But conditions have changed. The methods of fighting fire have changed. It used to be the custom to combat the flames by opening all the doors and windows of a building and flooding the premises with water. A course exactly opposite is pursued in these times. The fewest possible openings are made and no more water is used than is absolutely necessary. The wholesale flooding expedient is resorted to only after all other methods have failed."

A Money Saver.
"The new procedure is responsible for the saving of thousands of dollars annually—even here in Janesville. The Schmidley warehouse fire was an illustration. No doors or windows were opened and a careful examination of every floor was made by the chief before the firemen were called into service. When it was discovered that the source of the trouble was in the basement the chemical extinguishers were called for and in the end only two cases of tobacco were burned."

But in order that a department may be efficient with this method it must have enough men on the ground at the incipency of the fire. The first few minutes are the ones that count because they determine whether or not the property is to be saved from the flooding as well as the blaze. Some five years ago the fire-police were so conveniently located that they could have six or eight men on the ground as soon as the firemen. They not only devoted themselves to the work of saving goods and merchandise but helped in handling the hose and the various other work. The men could always be on hand to do this work as now scattered and it not infrequently happens that only one or two of us can get there when we are most needed."

Two More Paid Men.
"As matters now stand the department has scarcely enough paid men to do anything more than handle the vehicles. There ought to be another paid man at each station. The time is coming, too, when people of Spring Brook and Monterey will have to have a station. I am surprised that the people have not asked for one before this time. A single horse and one man would be much better than no immediate protection at all. When the Hall Furniture factory burned about four years ago it took fifteen minutes to get there through mud. And when the hose that the furniture company owned was taken off the reels, pressed into service, and the water turned on, it was found to be rotten and worse than useless. It might be possible to organize a volunteer department out there."

S. C. Burnham's Opinion.
When S. C. Burnham was interviewed on the same matter he expressed practically the same opinion as those of Mr. Heimstreet. "The department certainly ought to have two more men," said he. "Chief Klein is as economical as he can be but he is finding it a hard task to get along with only six regular firemen."

TWO PLANETS COMING TOGETHER

Mars and Jupiter Are Only a Half
Degree Apart—Venus Edging
Over Toward Old Sol.

Interesting data for February are furnished by the Washburn observatory at Madison as follows:
Sunrise—Feb. 1 at 7:15, Feb. 11 at 7:3, Feb. 21 at 6:49, Feb. 29 at 6:36.
Sunset—Feb. 1 at 5:8, Feb. 11 at 5:22, Feb. 21 at 5:35, and Feb. 29 at 5:45.
The times of the moon's phases are: Full moon, Feb. 1 10:33 a. m.; last quarter, Feb. 8 3:56 a. m.; new moon Feb. 15 5:5 a. m.; first quarter Feb. 21 5:9 a. m.

Mars and Jupiter are still seen in the western sky in early evening. February 25 the two planets will, we are informed from the Washburn observatory, be very close together. Mars about one-half degree north of Jupiter. At that time they will set some two hours after the sun and very near the west point of the horizon.

Mercury and Venus are both morning stars this month, and Saturn, having passed the sun February 1, also appears in the morning sky. Mercury reaches western elongation February 10, but is too low in the southeast for favorable observation. Venus is still brilliant but is steadily diminishing in brightness and nearing the sun. Saturn is low in the southeast and inconspicuous, although the planet rises about one hour before the sun by the close of the month.

The principle fixed stars visible during the month in the evening hours are: To the west, Capella, Aldebaran, and the Pleiades; near the meridian, Sirius and the bright stars of the constellation Orion; to the east, Procyon, Regulus, Castor and Pollux.

The easiest way to prepare a quick breakfast is to use Mrs. Austin's Pancake flour. Fresh and delicious.

GOLF TALK IS STILL IN LINE

Much Interest Is Shown, Even Though the Weather Is Far From Balm.

Sub-zero may perhaps not suggest greens, tees, lofters and the like but it seems to have no effect at least in discouraging consideration of rules for the good time a-coming.

An improved plan for scoring has been suggested. This applies to the large tournaments, for especially the open affairs, which usually last from three to four days. For instance, it has been proposed impracticable to run off a tournament entirely at match play, for the reason that, with a large field, too much time would be required. What is the result? The average tournament begins with an eighteen or thirty-six hole medal play, qualifying round, and then all are not satisfied.

The reason for this is that a player getting one or two bad holes may be kept out of the first sixteen, where he really belongs. Straight medal play is undoubtedly the only true test, revealing a person's game from the opening tee shot to the last putt; but it is the very "showing up" of one's errors and imperfections from which so many golfers shrink. They rarely admit this, preferring to advance the argument of too much depending upon one bad hole, etc.

In the absence of a better substitute the choice score system might be attempted. It has been tried in a half-hearted sort of manner in England, but has as yet to be given a thorough test in this country. The choice score is simply this: That at the end of two rounds each competitor selects the best score for each hole. In other words, if he should make the first hole in five one round and in three the next his choice score for that hole would be three.

It has sometimes been said that good match players rarely figure very prominently at the score game. One has only to point to our national champion, Walter J. Travis, to prove the fallacy of this remark, as it is a common occurrence for the Garden City crack to win the medal in the qualifying round and then win out at the final play. Travis, however, is an exception, and it is a matter of record that some of the strongest match-players are never known to lead a field in a stroke competition.

With the present system of scoring in the large tournaments it is easy to be cut out by an accident. The choice score system would remedy this feature.

For instance, should a golfer fumble a hole in the first round it behooves him to play with caution at that hole the second time, for certainly no high-class player could well afford to make a mess of the same hole twice in succession. In one way the second round would have both a smattering of the medal and match play, it all depending upon the figure scored at each hole throughout the first round.

The claim might be made that under this system players would not exert themselves greatly at holes in the afternoon at which they had practically unbeatable scores in the morning. Admitting this to be the case no harm would accrue, as real brilliancy cannot be made a matter of common occurrence. Energy for an unusual effort must be stored, and there is no better means of reaching it than by the choice score. At any rate it seems worthy of a fair trial, in the enjoyment of experts.

If you enjoy delicious, crispy brown pancakes, try Mrs. Austin's.

DISCUSSES DOG TAX QUESTION

Speaks in an Interestingly Way of the Interurban Road Project—Other Local News.

To the Editor: People are not expected to ask the ministers to pray for rain to dampen the tobacco, but if the rain should come the tobacco might get some of it, and it would confer a great benefit upon many good people and the tobacco incidentally.

Those Dogs.
And how about the dogs? Is it the fact that everybody wants them taxed to improve their temper? I always supposed the neck collars irritated the dogs and caused them to have bad dispositions, with leanings towards hydrophobia. Two or three ill-tempered dogs are disposed of by the police each week, and if anybody knows of a bad dog he should inform the marshal. Should there be an ordinance to muzzle dogs? Is it best to dodge the human society by killing all the dogs with muzzles? Just think of it, if you please, a big city with no dogs? Even if the farmer brings his dog to town the engaged humane society would demand the application of the law, although the same dog at home might prevent scores of sheep and cattle from straying away to freeze.

That Miserable Ground Hog.
After a winter filled with woes or pleasures just as it happened that steadily ground hog came out. Candemas day, and one glimpse was enough. He saw two hedgehogs, and we get six more weeks of winter. Said to relate he tells the truth seven-eighths of the time, so that we are bound to accept his opinion.

Now is the time for proprietors to fix their hotels, opera houses, public halls, etc., so as to put the public at ease in relation to fire escapes. The danger exists, the law defines, the remedy why wait to be driven. There are several very serious complaints already lodged with others to come. Asbestos curtains are not sufficient, no more than a little cheap rickety fire escape that breaks away from the wall and kills only 30, whereas a bigger one put up in the same way might have killed 60. As to theatres, it is evident that some plan should be provided for the entrance of firemen during panics besides the usual way over the bodies of women and children heaped on the floor.

Curious Oversight.
About the silliest thing a man can do is to write a letter upon some business point that concerns himself mostly and keep back the two cents postage for reply. The poorest scrub that starts out in life three or four thousand miles distant, and asks a question about the stability of the concern where he is asked to invest his money, knows enough to enclose a return stamp, but the business man too often assumes that he is the last one of the race and keeps all things to self, of course, you must answer his letter, and by shrewd guessing no doubt he can save his firm eight or nine cents a day by not enclosing the stamp. I have been told that now and then a firm saves the expense of tooth-picks in this way.

Burpee's Program.
It was not my purpose to mention the mayor's salary again, but I hear City Attorney Burpee now claims credit for saving the whole $65 to the city and will make his campaign on that issue.

These 40 Year Events.
I am also interested in your 40 year corner although the events took place before I ever saw Janesville. I would suspect Charles Holt now of Kankakee, Ill., of being the author of most of the items. In subsequent years I became acquainted with several characters whom the Gazette writer doesn't utter very much. F. L. Palmer, for instance, is the same gentleman who has been at the head of the great Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co. for 30 years, and Judge Ryan, author of the Ryan address, became chief justice of the supreme court later and was succeeded by another man, the Hon. J. B. Cassaday, who still has hosts of friends here.

That Disagreeable "If".
If things materialize as they should Janesville will next summer at least see the beginning of a sewerage system that will be next to the big dam at Asuan on the Egyptian Nile. People who have been calling loudly to the clouds for something to drop will probably get enough of street work as they gaze into the trenches, and in backyards anywhere along the six miles of expense. I am not disposed to think that the cost of this improvement is to be as burdensome upon adjacent property as the critics at first figured it. The brick pavement on East Milwaukee street and South Main will be burdensome.

That Interurban.
I suppose that one reason why we hear so much chatter about the new interurban is on account of the 50 year clause which no living man can measure; we oppose the squealing of pigs among the freight but long before 50 years, the pigs may be born dumb on purpose to escape the fuss and talk. A few years ago we were subject to the Texas steer with horns six feet apart and now we look at the car window and the innocent Polled Angus greets us with his noble beef steaks and his gazelle eye. This is the wiser and more figurative way of looking at the subject, being contented with the scriptural account of the temper of wind and the shorn lamb. My recollection is that even our much admired Job of the old testament pulled through all his troubles in spite of his callers and felt much better as soon as his liver was improved. Of course the same questions about freight will have to be answered with the other road sooner or later.

Why Didn't He?
But that miserable ground hog came out and went back, in the midst of numerous debates, contentions and a few misbehaved parties. Why didn't some one steal a wrap for the ground hog? And as he begins the second nap the circuit court will meet to accommodate its patrons and hundreds of strange events will transpire inside of six weeks. I doubt if the grass is much over six inches high six weeks hence and if the rob-in is wise he will take no stock in the early worm story and the fruit tree blossoms around these dignities. I hear the lone wood-pecker as he drills the tree for the sleeping worm, but don't tempt me with the musical spring robin just yet.

No Safety.
By the way, before I close this, let me remind you of orders that there is no place absolutely safe from danger in the event of a fire and panic at public gatherings. Somebody goes down and the surging mass becomes brutal. It is good luck and extra care prevents fires, panic and loss of life.

They Say Don't.
A movement got started not long ago to turn the city into a modern Jerusalem, but the boys felt so hard it was called off temporarily. Do you hear anything about ordinances restricting trade in the villages of Rock county?

Major May.
By the way, I had almost forgotten to note your kind words upon the death of Major John M. May, at Cedar Rapids, Ia. Major May was a crank in some respects but he meant well. I think it was May's invention that finally revolutionized the art of printing in colors, but never knew his going away. Although a practical stranger he gave me his office chair, now 75 years old at least and with a history that few can equal. Of all this chair during its eventful career, probably none have more peculiar interest than Giltspur, the slayer of President Garfield. The chair is sound as the day it came out of the factory. It has been in my possession 34 years. Yours respectfully, Janesville, Feb. 4. JUNIUS.

WESTERN LANDS BEING DISCUSSED

Guy Mitchell Writes From Washington of the Change of Public Sentiment.

Washington, (Special).—The determined opposition which has developed at Washington to any real and law reform legislation for the West shows how fierce is the fight to secure ownership to the remaining public domain which may become valuable for agriculture through irrigation improvement. Probably the only measure before Congress which warrants the undivided support of the country on this question is presented by Senator Charles of Wisconsin which unequivocally stops land theft by providing for the absolute repeal of the land stealing laws—the Desert Act, the Homestead Act, the Timber and Stone Act, etc. It repeals, in fact, everything but the Homestead Act as originally championed by Galusha A. Grow, War-Speaker and for years mentor of the House.

With this Charles Repeal bill before it, Congress can well afford to pigeon-hole the various modifications and amendments proposed to the land laws, as things dangerous.

Already one amending bill introduced by a prominent Western Senator has been discovered to contain an innocent looking clause, the effect of which, if enacted into law, would be to allow the most rampant speculation by the big land interests in the very lands which the government has reserved for federal irrigation and settlement into small farms.

The friends of honest land administration in the West and who believes in the principles that no more government lands should be disposed of to syndicates and corporations, but should be held by the government until settled upon by actual homesteaders, are giving their support to the Charles bill.

New York Merchants Favor Irrigation.
The Merchants' Association of New York, an immense and influential organization, comprising the principal business houses of the metropolis, has been making a study of the general questions of irrigation and forestry as related to manufacturing and sales of factory products, and at its annual meeting decided to lend the subject its active support. The matter has been in the hands of a special committee appointed last spring. The Association concluded that the settlement of the arid land by homesteaders was a subject in which they were deeply and directly interested and that they could lend their support to no movement, development of Oriental markets, or anything else which promised such returns as the habilitation of Arid America. The report expresses strong views against the timber and land losing now rife in the West stands for the repeal of the land laws.

President Gompers has requested the officers of the upholsterers and mattress makers to hold a conference to decide upon the question of jurisdiction. When this is done a charter will be issued to the Mattress Makers' International Union.

The Kennewick, (Ill.) Trades and Labor Assembly has made arrangements for six lectures on the labor question by Professor Jerome H. Raymond of the University of Chicago.

It is believed that there will soon be another tie-up of the glove industry of Gloversville, Fulton county, N. Y., affecting in the neighborhood of 12,000 persons.

The National Association of Building Trade Employers was launched in Chicago at a meeting extending from last December 8th to the 15th at which were present 200 delegates from 50 different cities representing nearly 100 associations of contractors, builders, carpenters, metal masons, and tile workers, painters, steam fitters and plumbers. In many cases the associations, represented were composed of sub-associations or auxiliary organizations as in the case of New York, where the Building Trades Employers' Association is composed of 31 sub-organizations, and the Building Trade Employers' of Washington, D. C., having eight sub-associations. It has been learned that at this meeting the National Association adopted for its foundation 8 cardinal principles, as follows:

That there shall be no limitation as to the amount of work a man shall perform during his working day.

That there shall be no restrictions of the use of machinery or tools.

That there shall be no restriction of use of any manufactured material except prison made.

That no person shall have the right to interfere with the workmen during working hours.

That the use of apprentices shall not be prohibited.

That the foreman shall be the agent of the employer.

That all workmen are at liberty to employ and discharge whomsoever they see fit.

That all employers are at liberty to employ and discharge whomsoever they see fit.

A meeting of the executive committee of the association was held in Chicago on the 19th, 20th, and 21st of this month, at which a constitution and by-laws for the government of the association was submitted for approval and adoption, and additional steps were taken to perfect an organization of all the employers in the building trades in the United States, for the purpose of presenting a united front to the labor unions.

One of the principle subjects which will be taken up by the Executive Committee will be the "Grosser anti-conspiracy" bill now pending before the House Committee on Judiciary with public hearing there set for February 25, 26 and 27, and "eight-hour labor bill" which is before the House Committee on Labor, with a hearing set for February 4. The anti-injunction bill excepts labor unions from prosecution under the anti-combine bill and is intended to prevent the issuing of injunctions against the unions. It is backed by the American Federation of Labor and all labor unions, and has passed the House of Representatives three times.

In each case dying in the Senate. The eight-hour bill is designated to prohibit work on any government contract from being prosecuted more than eight hours a day even in the shops of subcontractors. It is the intention of the association to prosecute a vigorous fight against these bills, and at the coming of the Executive Committee a line of action will be mapped out and the campaign against these measures immediately inaugurated.

A demand for an increase of wages and shorter hours made by Lynn, (Mass.) Team Drivers' union to the Coal Dealers' Association has been submitted to the State Board of Arbitration for settlement.

THE NEW CLUB.

The business men's club which is just now in progress or organization will fill a long felt want. Janesville has needed this kind of an organization for many years. The membership fee of $50 gives the club character and every man that belongs to it will feel that he has enough money invested in it so that he can afford to give it some attention.

The trouble with the average business men's club is that a membership fee of from one to five dollars is too small to be of permanent value. Men appreciate in this world what they pay for and small cost usually represents small value. When the permanent home for this club is established it will mean the headquarters of more than a business men's club. It will make possible on short notice to bring together enough representative men to consider any proposition presented which may be of interest to the city. It will also give character to the city along the lines of hospitality. This is a grace not always appreciated and yet of great importance. The first impressions gained by a stranger upon visiting a city are lasting impressions. If he travels in the South he is impressed with the cordiality and good will which meets him at every hand. The North and East are more conservative and the Club makes it possible to overcome in a measure this defect.

Janesville business men will also be benefited by this organization because it puts them in closer touch with each other and their interests are so largely mutual that they have many things in common. Every business man in the city realizes today that unusual effort is necessary to hold trade and various plans are used and experiments tried along this line. It will be possible through the Club to concentrate effort and much good result. The city is to be congratulated upon the enterprise of the business men in organizing this club.

UNITED METHODISM.

The much discussed and much desired plan for uniting the Court street and First Methodist churches has been consummated and the new church known as the Central Methodist church, with an enrolled membership of between 600 and 700, succeeds the two organizations. This church is in possession of the two church properties including parsonages and as soon as these properties can be sold a commodious building will be erected on the West side of the river for the future home of Methodism in the city.

The harmony which prevails is due very largely to the untiring and intelligent work of the pastors and presiding elder, who for a number of months have been quietly working for church union. The societies are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts. They have long realized that usefulness was being impaired through the division of effort and yet it has been difficult to agree upon a plan for combination.

The efforts heretofore made have been conditioned on the sale of property before the union was established but the present effort succeeded because all conditions were abandoned and union alone considered. It is safe to say that every Methodist in the city who has the interest of the church at heart will rejoice at the outcome. It means for Methodism a strong central church with a membership large enough to accomplish much. In building a new church an effort will be made to have it modern and commodious and to dedicate it free from debt. It is generally believed by the officials that the properties of Methodism can be sold for enough to produce this result.

The church of the city will congratulate the societies in uniting. In cities the size of Janesville it is possible to handicap usefulness through weak organization, and Methodism has been thus handicapped for many years. It would be well for the two Episcopal churches to bury all differences and come together on a similar plan. This is an age of consolidation, and the fact was never more thoroughly realized, that in union there is strength. Janesville is blessed with a goodly number of churches which are a credit to the city. The Central Methodist church will be in a position to lend a strong and helpful hand in the warfare against sin and the future of this new organization is very promising. The Gazette congratulates the two societies in the common sense displayed in coming together.

Just two governors have had the public demand that they run for office for a third time. Governor Rusk and Governor Fairchild. To these two men's nominations there was no opposition at all. This year there is opposition.

Perhaps even now some where the great grim dogs of war have opened their mouths in horrid growls. Russia and Japan both mean business but each one is afraid to knock the other fellows chip off as yet.

District Attorney Jackson has announced that he will not be a candidate for his office another term. Rock county thus loses the services of a most conscientious public servant.

Fair minded democrats are again to be approached by the clever manipulators of public sentiment this year. However their lesson of two years ago may teach them better.

The Milwaukee Organ goes to great depths in describing Senator Quarles position as regards his return to the senate. What does the Organ know about it anyway?

They say that Japan has made all the preparations to start that fight going over in the far east if it is only to get the money back she has paid for supplies.

Governor La Follette was here yesterday on his way to Monroe. Mr. Cook was here on his way to Monroe yet neither knew the other was in the county.

Is it not funny how the democrats repudiate Mr. Bryan just before convention and then let him tell them how to oil the machine up.

Babcock will carry that third district just as though the reformers had never tried their hands at making congressmen.

With six military trains a day running into "Sheridan" it is a certainty that Russia wants peace if she can name the brand.

Judge Baensch still continues to impress the people of the state as a very worthy candidate for the gubernatorial toga.

In making his speech to Parliament King Edward did not let any opportunity slip to let everyone know he was King.

Mr. Bryan might be reconciled to a remodelled democratic party if he could furnish the plans and specifications.

Sentiment favoring a change of administration seems to be growing steadily throughout the entire county.

Somewhere under these fine snow drifts a fine crop of winter wheat must be packed away carefully.

Mr. Root has retired to private life. That wonderful stable where all the dark horses come from.

King Edward read his speech to parliament just as though he had written it himself.

When a few million bales of cotton fall on a financial house something is sure to break.

Evidently that ground hog saw his shadow from the tone of the weather.

500 actors are out of work this season and 185 theatrical companies are stranded.

Cheer up. No one has heard the coal man complain about his luck this winter.

Gorman blundered and now he can read the handwriting on the wall.

County politics are looking up. Candidates are seeking the office.

Perhaps Mrs. Maybrick is in hiding fearing officers of marriage.

Senator Hanna is a very sick man despite what his friends say.

Crocuses may be blooming some where but not in Janesville.

PRESS COMMENT.

Evening Wisconsin: The Thibodans are said to be telling Colonel Youngblood of the British invading column to "get off the roof."

Racine Journal: A Minnesota law releasing travelers from paying their hotel bills when the hotel had not complied with the fire protection law is to be tested in the courts.

Barron County News: The man who breathes through his nose, keeps his feet dry, avoids drafts and liquor, and observes ordinary rules of hygiene has comparatively little to fear from pneumonia.

Oshkosh Times: Considering the American's love of noise, one gathers that he is descended from the Chinese.

Grant County Witness: J. J. Blaine of Roscoe was in Plattville Friday looking over his chances in political matters. Mr. Blaine is one of the several candidates who aspire to succeed Mr. Babcock.

Racine Journal: A pointer is given out Governor La Follette will officially announce his candidacy in the administration's official organ on next Sunday.

Fond du Lac Reporter: The only bonus that is any inducement is a big bunch of contracts for beet acreage. That's what the men with capital want. A $50,000 bonus and no beet will be worth nothing to a company with a $50,000 plant standing idle. Get the beet!

Oshkosh Northwestern: La Follette literature is beginning to be circulated among the voters of the state in large quantities, and still the governor retains his own counsel and has given no public hint or intimation that he desires to be a third term candidate. His plan this year is evidently to wait until a sufficient amount of public sentiment has been aroused and then announce that considering the pressure brought to bear by his friends he cannot refuse to accede to their wishes.

Eau Claire Leader: It is now perfectly clear that the growing of ginseng is about to become a staple industry in Wisconsin. It is now past the experimental stage. Many farmers who have tried it are thoroughly satisfied that it is the best paying business they can engage in. Many have made good profits, and several have acquired considerable wealth. The plant is not as difficult of cultivation as some people imagine. It requires a suitable soil and a certain degree of intelligence and that is about all. "Any one who has brains enough to raise tobacco can raise ginseng. The conditions in Wisconsin are peculiarly favorable to its growth, and every progressive farmer should give the matter his attention.

Milwaukee Sentinel: While it would be unfair to Mr. Wall and to the Wisconsin democrats who are responsible for the announcement of his candidacy, for the presidential nomination on the democratic ticket to attribute the Wall boom to a desire to head off the growing Hearst sentiment in this state, it may be said that the appearance of Edward C. Wall upon the track will make short work of securing the Wisconsin delegation. There is not room enough in the state for the two booms, and the Hearst men may as well notify their candidate that their cake is dough.

ANNOUNCEMENT

By an arrangement which we have just completed with the Lewis Knitting Company we have been given the exclusive sale for their complete line of Men's Union Suits and Underwear in Janesville and vicinity. We shall in the future have entire charge of all special orders, in fact will conduct the entire retail business here for this excellent high class apparel in Men's wear. In addition we will carry a very complete line of their underwear; both Union and Two Piece Suits in all sizes and grades. Our order has been placed for Spring stock and will be on sale about February 15th. Included in the Spring line, in addition to their already celebrated Full Fashioned goods and their popular Lace Knit Elastic Mesh garments, a new product to be known as the Janesville Underwear which can be purchased at a popular price. This line will take in light wool, lisle and seltrine and will sell at the prices of $2.00, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 per suit in a variety of colors suitable to any taste. We will also have a complete special order department so that all former customers of the Lewis Knitting Co., who have been in the habit of having their garments made to measure and others who have found it difficult to secure a perfect fit in stock goods will be able hereafter to be measured at our store for silk, linen, lisle, worsted or mixtures of any of these yarns and will be guaranteed satisfaction in all respects. Special orders will receive the closest attention and will be delivered in about twelve days from the time of ordering. We invite the closest inspection of this celebrated line. We shall take pleasure at any time in explaining the merits that have made the Lewis Underwear famous the country over.

THE UNION TO BE IMMEDIATE

NO FURTHER SEPARATE SERVICES FOR METHODISTS.

FINAL MEETING LAST NIGHT

Characterized by Same Harmonious Spirit That Has Prevailed Thus Far—Property Transferred.

The adjourned meeting of the First M. E. church last evening was a representative conference, both boards of the former churches being present. At the call of the presiding elder the old board was re-elected for the purpose of making legal the transfer of property. The latter purpose was accomplished by the sale of the various realties to the trustees of the Central M. E. church for the sum of one dollar. The committee appointed to secure a site, composed of Dr. E. E. Loomis and Dr. F. T. Richards, was continued with instructions to report their progress to the board from time to time. A building committee of five, whose duty it will be to investigate plans and obtain estimates, was appointed. The members are T. E. Hennison, R. W. Clarke, C. W. Kummer, Dr. F. T. Richards, and F. Hurd.

To unite at once a special committee was appointed to confer with the officers of the English Lutheran church concerning the sale of the old First Methodist church property. A most important phase of the evening's work was a discussion on immediate union which resulted in a motion to unite the two societies in their social affairs and religious worship at once. This motion was carried without dissent. One of the pastors will be appointed by Bishop Foss as presiding pastor until conference, while the other will be appointed as assistant.

All salaries obligations of the two organizations were assumed by the board of the Central M. E. church. The designation of the place where the society is to worship was left to the judgment of the pastors and the presiding elder. As a happy outcome of this consolidation permanent and successful union is assured. Every Methodist in the city is now enrolled as a member of the Central M. E. church and the outlook for the future is flattering in every respect. Harmony prevailed throughout the meeting and every action was unanimously supported.

REV. TIPPETT IS MADE THE PASTOR

In Charge, and Rev. Warner Assistant Pastor of Central M. E. Church, by Bishop Foss.

Bishop C. D. Foss, L. L. D., of Philadelphia, who has charge of the Wisconsin conference for the present year, has officially appointed Rev. J. J. Tippett, preacher in charge, and Rev. W. W. Warner, assistant pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal church of Janesville.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN TOWN.

A TOBACCO BILL FOR THE GROWERS

Kentucky Congressman Asks the Sentiment of the Rock County Growers on the Question.

Farmers, producers and consumers of tobacco in Rock county, state of Wisconsin: I have offered the following bill in congress—H. R. 2574: "A bill for the relief of the farmers and tobacco growers of the United States. Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That farmers and growers of tobacco shall hereafter have the right to sell tobacco in the raw or unmanufactured, of their own growth, in any quantity, either in the leaf, twist, or such other form as they may wish, free from any tax or charge, or being in any manner subject to any statutory regulation on the part of the government of the United States. All statutes in conflict herewith are hereby repealed."

Its passage will prevent the arbitrary fixing of the price of raw leaf tobacco by the manufacturer. It will be an equitable, automatic governor of prices, protecting both producer and consumer, and working no injury to the manufacturer, who is satisfied with a legitimate profit on his capital. This bill has been endorsed by the White Burley Tobacco Growers' association of Kentucky, the only organization of tobacco growers in the United States. The Kentucky legislature has memorialized congress to pass the bill and every member of the Kentucky delegation in congress is enthusiastically supporting it. But there is no influence so potent before congress as a direct petition from the people. I want one hundred thousand citizens to petition congress through their member, urging the passage of this bill. Blank petitions will be furnished upon application. Your hearty co-operation is most earnestly desired. Very respectfully,
SOUTH TIMBLE,
7th Kentucky District.

MISTAKE MADE THROUGH A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

Editorial should have referred to the Senior Alderman of the Third Ward, Not the Second.

Through a frolic of the types Wednesday night an editorial on the common council was read to refer to the senior alderman of the Second ward. It should have read, the senior alderman of the Third ward.

Another Candidate: H. W. Lee announces that he has his eye on the county clerk plum; and means to try for the republican nomination.

COLD WEATHER MAKES PRICES

EGGS ARE THIRTY-FIVE CENTS A DOZEN TODAY.

OTHER PRICES ARE ALSO UP

The Thaw Will Help to Lower the Present Stringent Price of Commodities.

Was the ground hog in league with the Amalgamated Association of Anti-Egg Laying Hens or not? Opinions differ. It makes no matter whether he was or not, eggs are almost an unknown quantity in the majority of stores in Janesville today. They are worth money to those who have them and anyone who has ham and eggs on his daily menu is eating money to a certainty. If you wanted to buy some strictly fresh eggs, the dealer would tell you he had some that had been secured for fresh and that they cost thirty-five cents for a dozen. Just remember this price when eggs go down to ten and eleven cents next summer.

Fruit Scarce
Fruits are also scarce. Cold weather has made the shipping of the delicacies of the warmer south risky and many of the wholesale houses have been warned by railway and express companies that it was not safe to send perishable fruits this time of year. However, those that do brave the cold blasts are luxuries and taste as good as they look. Janesville people like bananas and grapes and eat a goodly amount of oranges. They are also becoming accustomed to the tangerines and other tropical fruits.

Fresh Fish
Today is fish day and all the stores that make any pretense of handling these articles for the Fridays and fast days have goodly supplies on hand. There are salt fish and fresh water fish. Fresh fish have the call however as many fail to appreciate the taste of the denizens of the deep blue so far inland.

Green Stuff
For table decorations and for real good salads there is the lettuce grown right here in Janesville or shipped in from Louisiana. Then there is parsley and the winter vegetables and radishes grown in hot-houses, and other hot-house products. Strawberries have not yet arrived. One dealer said today they might get here by Valentine's day but they would be worth so much a berry if they came.

The Prices
Potatoes, 80c bu.
Sweet potatoes, 5c lb.
Lettuce, 5c beh.
Cabbage, 4c lb.
Radishes, 6c beh.
Michigan celery, 5¢10c beh.
Granulated sugar, 18 lbs. for $1.
Fancy apples, 45c pk.
Bananas, 20c doz.
Oranges, 15 to 40c doz.
Cranberries, 10c qt.
Cranberry butter, 25c lb.
Dairy butter, 22c lb.
Cheese, 16¢20c lb.

MASS-MEETING AT 7:30 THIS EVENING

Every Citizen Who is Interested in the Franchise Freight Clause Should Attend—Lively Time Expected.

Interesting developments are expected at the big mass-meeting of citizens at the city hall at half-past seven o'clock this evening to consider what action should be taken by the city council with regard to the freight privileges asked for by the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Ry. and the advisability of the council taking action in regard thereto. What ever opposition exists to granting this concession is expected to make itself manifest at this convocation. The adherents are also to be present and will doubtless explain their positions on the matter.

M'NAMARA HEADS HARDWARE MEN

Janesville Man is Made President of the State Hardware Dealers at Their Meeting.

The Wisconsin Retail Hardware Dealers' association closed its session in Milwaukee yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The following officers were elected: President—H. L. McNamara of Janesville. Vice president—Ralph Burtis of Oshkosh. Secretary and treasurer—C. A. Peck of Beloit.

Members of the executive committee for two years—E. H. Ramm of New London and R. D. Buss of Milwaukee.

The insurance feature of the association came up in a practical form, and insurance to the amount of $100,000 subscribed for a year ago, gives the new company a good start. A. M. Stebbins of Rochester, Minn., representing the Minnesota Hardware association, and who is also a member of the national association, delivered an address, in which he urged the necessity of increasing the membership of the state organization, the advantages of belonging to the national organization, and pointed out the good features of the insurance feature, by which the hardware men insured their own property.

Papers were read by James Witke of Fond du Lac, E. K. Cunningham of Berlin, and O. P. Schlafer of Appleton.

MASQUE BALL A GREAT SUCCESS

Two Hundred Couples Attended the Affair Given by Modern Woodmen Last Night.

Under the auspices of the Ancient Order of United Workmen what proved to be the best attended dance of the season was held at Assembly hall last evening. Baldwin and Reifold's orchestra furnished the music and there were fully two hundred couples in the grand march. The dancers came in carnival costume and the wearers of the best masquerade costumes were awarded prizes. E. C. Mead carried away the trophy for the best gentleman's costume; Miss Margaret Hagenet was awarded the first ladies' prize; W. L. White secured the prize for the best lady's comical costume was divided between the Misses Anna Berger and Bertha Stine, who impersonated colored ladies. The committee in charge of the masquerade ball consisted of John Heller, Edward C. Klenow, Geo. Tanberg, Ed. O. Smith, M. Schumacher, Fred Smith and B. L. Dunwiddle.

A LARGE FAMILY IS LEFT LONELY

Mrs. Nelson, Carrol, Dudley, Did Not Survive an Operation Performed as Last Expedient Yesterday.

As the last expedient to save a life, three local physicians operated on Mrs. Nelson, Carrol, Dudley at her home, 364 Holmes street, yesterday. The first symptoms seemed to indicate that the patient would survive the operation, but very soon she began to sink rapidly and death relieved her of her suffering at half-past six o'clock last evening. The deceased had been afflicted with bowel trouble for ten days past. She is survived by a husband and seven children: Mrs. Clayton Fellows of Peoria, Laura, Grace, Albert, Jessie, Carrol, and Marvin Dudley of this city. There are four daughters and a brother: Mrs. F. F. Devlin and her husband of Chicago, James and Kate Carrol of Mazomanie, and Mrs. F. P. Murtaugh of Menasha. Mrs. Dudley was forty-seven years of age and was married in 1880.

THE ART LEAGUE AT WEEKLY MEET

"Hades and Heaven" Discussed at Home of Miss Gibbs—Professor Wright Lectures Next Week.

At the North Academy street home of Miss Gibbs the Janesville Art League held its weekly meeting at three o'clock this afternoon. The subject of the meeting was "Hades and Heaven." The papers to be read were as follows: "Polygnotus' Painting of the Lower World," by Mrs. Sargent; "The Technique and Meaning of the Orpheus and Eurydice Relief," by Miss Russell; "The Significance of Greek Grave Monuments," by Miss Baker; "Types of Dionysus in Art," by Mrs. Brewer; "Dionysus' Train of Attendants," by Mrs. Burr.

Prof. Theodore Lyman Wright of Beloit will lecture before the league on "Types of Medusa and Nike" at the science room of the high school next Friday afternoon.

Case Settled: The case of H. L. McNamara vs. the C. & N. W. road, which has been before Justice Reed, for some time was today settled out of court.

THE THAW WILL DO MUCH GOOD

AND IF RAIN COMES, TOBACCO WILL MOVE.

ALL WORK THEN BE RUSHED

This Means Thousands of Dollars for the Growers, Buyers and Workmen in This City.

weather story
Rain tonight and Saturday warmer. These are the weather predictions for the next 24 hours. If true, they mean that thousands of dollars worth of tobacco will be taken down from the poles, brought to the city, placed in the warehouses stripped, sized and packed ready for shipment. This means that money will be put into circulation about the city and that hundreds of hands will be needed for work in the warehouses.

Rain Needed
Rain has been needed for many weeks past. Damp weather is necessary to handle the tobacco crop and the farmers who have been waiting for this thaw will have plenty of work for the next day or two to get all their crop that is now in their sheds. They will have to have outside help to work with a rush in case the thaw is not lasting. Should the tobacco freeze up again it will depreciate its value.

Preparing for Rush
Tobacco men are making all their plans for rush time. It is thought that several large parties of experienced workmen in tobacco will go out into the country tonight to be ready for the work in the sheds tomorrow.

EXCLUSIVE AGENCY

Ziegler Clothing Co. Given Lewis Underwear for Janesville.

We have taken the exclusive agency for the famous Lewis underwear for Janesville and vicinity and will handle all special orders in the future and will have on sale about Feb. 15th a complete spring stock including all grades of Lewis goods. The new line to be known as the Janesville at $2, $3, $3.50 and $4 per suit will also be in evidence. The old customers who have been in the habit of going to the factory for their underwear and those men who find difficulty in securing a satisfactory fit from stock will receive careful attention here. Special orders can be delivered in about 12 days. We shall take pleasure in explaining the merits of these goods to you at any time.

Those Dogs Again

Editor Gazette: This dog question is getting interesting. There is a better way even than any so far proposed. Dogs are property, and the owner has a right to let them run at large as long as they do not interfere with the rights of others. Let the council pass an ordinance that every dog shall wear a collar with the name and address of the owner on same, then if the dog does any mischief, the owner shall be held for all damage. It will be easy to provide for the destruction of all dogs not having such collars, after being kept for, say a week, in order that the owner may redeem him. If such was the law, few owners of dogs would run the risk of having to pay damages, but would prefer to have them muzzled or kept at home. At any rate, let us have some dog law.

TOBACCO DEALERS ELECT A. L. FISHER

As Vice-President of Their Association for Coming Year—180 at Meeting.

Janesville was honored at the meeting of the Association of Tobacco Dealers and Growers in Madison this week by the election of A. L. Fisher as vice-president for the coming year. The other officers are: President, Capt. John M. Estes of Stoughton; and treasurer, K. N. Gruenwald of Crawfordville.

Former Governor Speaks
Former Governor Hoard addressed the convention at the capital relative to the Wisconsin tobacco exhibit to be made at the world's fair. He explained that the Wisconsin exhibit would be divided, part being in the state display and part forming a substantial part of a great special exhibit of the three products—cotton, corn and tobacco. A committee appointed to investigate advisability of making two exhibits at St. Louis world's fair reported in conformity on Gov. Hoard's proposition recommending that committees be appointed to secure subscriptions for a proper representation in the state, as well as general exhibits.

About 160 Present
Nearly 160 tobacco men were in attendance at this third annual meeting of this association. John M. Estes of Stoughton, in his presidential address, showed that of the twenty-six leading tobacco producing states Wisconsin ranks sixth in acreage, sixth in yield and fourth in the amount produced; while of the seven leading cigar leaf states Wisconsin ranks first in acreage and total value.

"CHAPTER XXXV."

A DAY OF MIRACLES.

The regent of France kept his promise to Law, and the latter in turn fulfilled his prophecy to the regent. The Banque Generale de La's et Compagnie was seized upon by the public, debtor and creditor alike, as the one new thing, and hence as the only salvation. As ever, it pleased Paris to be mystified. In some way the rumor spread about that Monsieur L'as was philosophic; that the Banque Generale was founded upon "philosophy." It was catch-word sufficient for the time.

"Vive Jean L'as, le philosophe—Monsieur L'as, he who has saved France!" So rang the cry of the shallow-witted people of an age splendid even in its contradictions. And meantime the new bank, crudely experimental as it was, flourished as though its master spirit had indeed in his possession the philosopher's stone, turning all things to gold.

One day, shortly after the beginning of that brilliant, spectacular series of events destined so soon to make Paris the Mecca of the world, there sat at table, in a little, obscure cabaret of the gay city, a group of persons who seemed to have chosen that spot for purposes of privacy. Yet privacy was difficult where all the curious passers-by stared in amazement at the great coach near the door, half filling the narrow and unclean street—a vehicle bearing the arms of no less a person than that august and unscrupulous representative of the French nobility, the Prince de Conti. No less a person than the prince himself, thin-faced, aquiline and haughty, sat at this table, looking about him like any common criminal to note whether his speech might be overheard. Next to him sat a book-nosed Jew from Austria, Frasin, by name, one of many of his kind gathered so quickly within the last few weeks in Paris, even as the scent of carrion fetches ravens to the feast. Another of the party was a man of middle age, of handsome, calm, patrician features and an unruffled mien—that De la Chaise, nephew of the confessor of Louis the Grand, who was later to represent the young king in the provinces of Louisiana.

Near by the latter, and indeed the central figure of this gathering, was one less distinguished than either of the above, evidently neither of churchly ancestry nor civic distinction—Henri Varenne, sometime clerk for the noted Paris Freres, farmers of the national revenues. Varenne, now serving but as clerk in the new bank of L'as et Compagnie, could have been called a man of not great standing; yet it was he whose presence had called hither these others to this unusual meeting. In point of fact, Varenne was a spy chosen by the jealous Paris Freres, to learn what he might of the internal mechanism of this new and startling institution, which had sprung into such sudden prominence.

"As to the bank of these brothers L'as," said the Prince de Conti, rapping out emphasis with his sword hilt on the table, "it surely has much to commend it. Here is one of its notes, and witness what it says. The bank promises to pay to the bearer at sight the sum of fifty livres in coin of the weight and standard of this day." This is to say, of this date which it bears. Following these, are the words 'value received.' Now, my notary tells me that these words make this absolutely safe, so that I know what it means in coin to me at this day, or a year from now. Is it not so, Monsieur Frasin?"

The Jew reached out his hand, took the note, and peered over it in close scrutiny.

"It is no wonder, Monsieur le Prince," said he, presently, "that orders have been given by the government to receive this note without discount for the payment of the general taxes. Upon my reputation, I must say to you that these notes will pass current better than your uncertain coin. The specie of the king has been changed twice in value by the king's orders. Yet this bases itself upon a specie value which is not subject to any change. Therein lies its own value."

"It is indeed true," broke in Varenne. "Not a day goes by at this new bank but persons come to us and demand our notes rather than coin of the realm of France."

"Yes, yes," broke in the prince, "we are agreed as to all this, but there is much talk about further plans of this Monsieur L'as. He has the ear of his grace the regent, surely. Now, sir, tell us what you know of these future affairs."

"The rumor is, as I understand it," answered Varenne, "that he is to take over control of the Company of the West—to succeed, in short, to the shoes of Anthony Crozat. There come curious stories of this province of Louisiana."

"Of course," resumed the prince, with easy wisdom, "we all of us know of the voyage of L'Huillier, who, with his four ships, went up this great river Messassee, and who, as is well known, found that river of Blue Earth, described by early writers as abounding in gold and gems."

"Now, as you say, L'Huillier had with him four ships, and it is well known that his gentlemen had with them certain ladies of distinction, among these a mysterious 'fame' reported to have earlier traveled in portions of New France. The name of this mysterious female is not known, save that she is reported to have been a good friend of a sous-lieutenant of the regiment Carignan, sometime dweller at Quebec and Montreal, and who later became a lieutenant under L'Huillier. It is said that this same mysterious fair, having returned from America and having cast aside her lieutenant, has come under protection of no less a person than his grace Philippe of Orleans, the regent. Now, as you know, the bank is the best friend of the regent, and this mysterious dame, as we are advised by servants of his grace's household, hath told his grace such stories of the wealth of the Messassee that he has secretly and quickly made over the control of the trade of these provinces to this new bank. There is story also that his grace himself will not lack profit in this movement."

The hand of Conti smote hard upon the table. "By heaven! it were strange thing," said he, "if this foreign traveler should prove the same mysterious beauty Philippe is reported to have kept in hiding. My faith, is it indeed true that we are come upon a time of miracles?"

"Listen!" broke in Varenne, his ardor overcoming his obscurity. "These are some of the tales brought back—and reported privately, I can assure you, gentlemen, now for the first time, and to yourselves. The people of this country are said to be clad in beautiful raiment, made of silks, of grasses, and of the bark of trees. Their ornaments are made of pure, yellow gold, and of precious gems which they pick up from the banks of the streams, as common as pebbles here in France. The climate is such that all things grow in the most unrivaled fruitfulness. There is neither too much sun nor too much rain. The lakes and rivers are vast and beautiful, and the forests are filled with myriads of strange and sweet-voiced birds. 'Tis said that the dream of Ponce de Leon hath been realized, and that not only one, but a score of fountains of youth have been discovered in this great valley. The people are said never to grow old. Their personal beauty is of surpassing nature, and their disposition easy and complaisant to the last degree."

"My faith, say on!" broke in De la Chaise. "Tis surely a story of paradise which you recount."

"But, listen, gentlemen! The story goes yet farther. As to mines of gold and silver, 'twas matter of report that such mines are common in all the valley of the Messassee. Indeed the whole surface of the earth, in some parts, is covered with lumps of gold, so that the natives care nothing for it. The bottoms of the streams, the beaches of the lakes, carry as many particles of gold as they have pebbles and little stones. As for silver, none take note of it. 'Tis used as building stone."

"In the name of Jehovah, is there support for these wonders you have spoken?" broke in Frasin the Jew, his eyes shining with suppressed excitement.

"Assuredly. Yet I am telling not half of the news which came to my knowledge this very morning—the story is said to have emanated from the Palais Royal itself, and therefore, no doubt, is to be traced to this same unknown queen of the Messassee. She reports, it is said, that beyond the country where L'Huillier secured his cargo of blue earth, there is a land where grows a most peculiar plant. The meadows and fields are covered with it, and it is said the dew of night, which gather within the petals of these flowers, become, in the course of a single day, nothing less than a solid diamond stone! From this in time the leaves drop down, leaving the diamond exposed there, shining and radiant."

"Ah, bah!" broke in Frasin the Jew. "Why believe such babblings? We all know that the diamond is a product not of the vegetable but of the mineral world!"

"So have we known many things," stoutly replied Varenne, "only to find ourselves frequently mistaken. Now for my part, a diamond is a diamond, be it born in a flower or broken from a rock. And as for the excellence of these stones, 'tis rumored that the lady hath abundant proof. 'Tis no wonder that the natives of the valley of the Messassee robe themselves in silks, and that they deck themselves carelessly with precious stones, as would a peasant of ours with a chain of daisy blossoms. Now, if there be such wealth as this, is it not easy to see the profit of a bank which controls the trade with such a province? True, there have been some discoveries in this valley, but nothing thorough. 'Tis but recent the thing hath been done thorough."

The Prince de Conti sat back in his chair and threw a long breath. "If these things be true," said he, "then this Monsieur L'as is not so bad a leader to follow."

"But listen!" exclaimed Varenne once more. "I have not even yet told the most important thing, and this is rumor which perhaps your grace has caught. 'Tis whispered that the bank of the brothers L'as is within a fortnight to be changed."

"What is that?" queried Frasin, quickly. "Tis not to be abandoned?"

"By no means. Abandoned would be quite the improper word. 'Tis to be improved, expanded, increased, magnified! My lords, there is the opportunity of a life-time for every one of us here!"

"Say on, man, say on!" commanded the prince, the covetousness of his soul shining in his eyes as he leaned forward.

"I mean to say this," and the spy lowered his voice as he looked anxiously about. "The regent hath taken a fancy to be chief owner himself of an enterprise so profitable. In fine, the Banque Generale is to become the Banque Royale. His majesty of France, represented by his grace the regent, is to become the head banker of France and Europe! Monsieur L'as is to be retained as director-general of this Banque Royale. There are to be branches fixed in different cities of the realm, at Lyons, at Tours, at Amiens, at Rochelle, at Orleans—in fact, all France is to go upon a different footing."

The glances of the Prince de Conti and the Austrian met each other. The Jew drew a long breath as he sat back in his chair, his hands grasping at the edge of the table. Try as he might, he scarce could keep his chin firm trembling. He licked out his tongue to moisten his lips.

Racing Talk of The Hour

Witfull, the Chicago Stake Winner, and Tribes Hill, the "Hundred Dollar Horse," New Orleans Favorites * Kansas City Jockey Club.

The thoroughbred racing season at New Orleans has been marked by the absence of most of the best known jockeys and by the performances of two horses, Witfull, the game four-year-old daughter of Mirthful and Hesperose, and Tribes Hill, whose ancestry is not so high in class as that of his rival for public favor.

Witfull, the heroine of the New Orleans race meeting, became so popular because of her excellent performances that the turf critics compared her to Xo Tamblen, Firenze and other stars of former days. She is the property of Sam Hildreth.

Chicago race goers became well acquainted with her toward the end of the last racing season. Mirthful, her sire, was burned to death at Lexington last summer.

Witfull, although she raced but little in Chicago last year, was regarded as to the race followers at New Orleans as did "Big Mac" last year. Some of the enthusiastic admirers of Tribes Hill go so far as to say that, placed side by side with McClesney, the "hundred dollar horse" will compare favorably, so far as performances at New Orleans are concerned. McClesney never ran as fast as Tribes Hill at New Orleans, but, then, the track at the Crescent City this year has been rebuilt and is much faster than it was.

There is no doubt that among the players at New Orleans Tribes Hill shines like a thoroughbred of high class, but it is only because the others are a very bad lot. His wonderful success and consistency are due to the clever handling which his owner and trainer, Willie Midgely, is giving him.

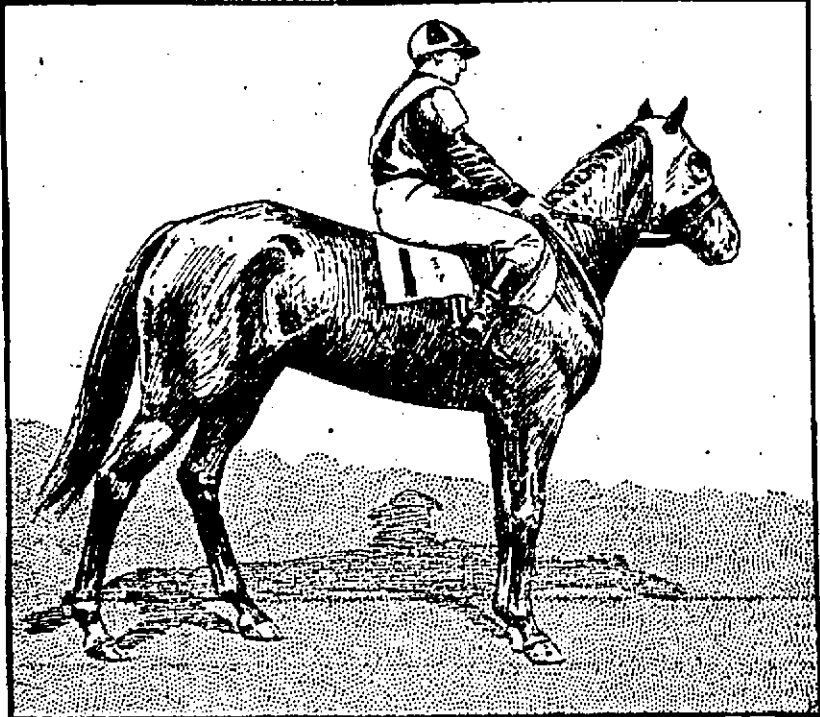

Midgely, when a rider, was a good one. He was patient, skillful and painstaking. The qualities that made him a good rider are now shining forth in his work as a trainer.

Tribes Hill is a lucky horse. He brought luck to Jack McGinness, the clubhouse commissioner, who bought him from Mr. John Sanford at a sale in Saratoga, N. Y., for a hundred dollar bill.

Tribes Hill won thousands of dollars for McGinness. Midgely claimed Tribes Hill out of a selling race, and the horse has been just as good to him as he was to McGinness.

Tribes Hill is now five years old. He was sired by Clifford, and his dam was Garoga. He is sound and will probably race all next season.

Work on the track and buildings of the Kansas City Jockey club is rapidly approaching completion. The bed of the track has received its finishing touches, and all that now remains to be done to render it ready for use is the building of the inside fence. The track is now a nearly a level mile of ground as can be made by human hands, and with a little use, should, owing to the epony condition of the line-the best of the western three-year-olds. She began winning at New Orleans, where she captured the Crescent City Derby. At Memphis she met with an accident after defeating Claude in a special race and was not on the track again until late in the fall. She slowly rounded to form and has won a snug fortune for her owner.

Witfull probably will not face the flag again before the Memphis meeting. She has been practically turned out of training and will receive a long rest stone earth, become one of the fastest in the country.

Eighty-five feet is the width of the stretch, the turns and back stretch being fifteen feet narrower. The grand stand is a beautiful structure. Its seating capacity is 4,000. It is complete in every respect, admirably fitted with all modern conveniences, and in addition to its seating capacity of 4,000 there are thirty-five private boxes.

The paddock, which is 130 by 48 feet, consists of fourteen stalls and is situated about 150 feet west of the grand stand. Beyond and contiguous to the paddock on farther west is the clubhouse of the Elm Ridge club, a structure of most attractive appearance. The arrangement of the stables will please horsemen. Stalls to the number of 400 have already been completed. They are large and roomy, each barn being able to accommodate thirty-five head of horses. In addition to those now completed, there will shortly be put under process of construction enough new stables to run the total number of stalls to 800.

Only thirty-five minutes will be required to reach the track from the heart of the city, the street railway company having agreed to make the runs in that time. The Kansas City Jockey club represents an outlay of over a quarter million dollars.

For the last twenty weeks the payroll for labor alone has averaged over $5,000 per week, and to this money expended, for labor must be added the cost of building the very expensive plant, swelling the total cost, without considering the purchase price of the ground, to at least $250,000.

Previous racing ventures in Kansas City have gone to the bad for the reason that they were incompetently conducted.

Northwestern's Discovery. Northwestern university has come to the conclusion that three big football games in a season is about the right number, and next year's schedule will be made up to conform to this idea. Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota confine themselves to three big games, while Northwestern, Chicago and Illinois have been playing five and six.

Washington's Auto Show. All the space for Washington's next automobile show in March has been sold, and there is a demand for additional accommodations.

Harvard Athletic Returns. Athletes at Harvard are certainly on a paying basis. The gross receipts during the past year were nearly $100,000.

German War Fund. The German war fund is six millions in gold. It has been lying untouched since 1874. The periodical inspection took place in 1902.

Rexall "93" HAIR TONIC

In these days when youth is the moving factor—when man has made his mark at thirty-five and is dubbed a "has been" at forty; when business houses pension the man we used to call "middle aged" rather than allow his lagging influence to intrude upon the modern commercial rush—a bald head is a serious handicap.

In the social world it is equally bad for a man, while for a woman—it is fatal.

Few people can afford a bald head. Even those who can—those who are fixed socially, financially and matrimonially—have no wish to do so. But afford it or not, thousands of us are bald, either partially or wholly.

What caused baldness—whether an inherited tendency; whether through undue mental effort, sickness, dandruff or other scalp disease—makes no difference. What we want is HAIR.

Millions of dollars have been spent in vain efforts to grow hair on bald heads. Other millions have been spent in an effort to restore faded hair to its natural shade, and still others to banish dandruff. And still hair refused to grow; lost tints of brown, blonde and auburn failed to return; dandruff declined to disappear.

All this, however, is of the past. Failures have given place to success. A real hair restorative has at last been found. REXALL 93 HAIR TONIC is a positive cure for all hair and scalp troubles. It is not sticky or gummy, will not thicken on hair, does not become rancid, has no disagreeable odor. It is clean, agreeable and pleasant to use.

THE CAUSE OF BALDNESS

The latest scientific discoveries prove that all hair and scalp troubles—baldness, falling hair, dandruff, itching scalp—are caused by microbes which feed on the fatty matter at the roots of the hair until, through starvation, the hair dies and falls out.

Gray and faded hair are due to the same cause. The microbes interrupt the action of the pigment glands. Then the hair loses its color.

Rexall 93 Hair Tonic kills the microbes, supplies food for the starving hair, cleanses the scalp and strengthens the follicles.

It restores hair to its original color by making it healthy and by stimulating the flow of natural coloring pigment. It is not a dye.

93 HAIR TONIC removes dandruff by removing the cause—the destructive microbes. It makes hair light, clean, manageable.

Remember that dandruff is proof positive that microbes are at work on the roots of your hair. Then is the time to buy a bottle of REXALL 93 HAIR TONIC and begin treatment. Don't wait until you are bald.

"My hair was getting very thin. Every morning I would comb out great handfuls of it. Nothing that I used stopped its falling out or helped it until, by the advice of a friend, I tried Rexall 93 Hair Tonic. From the very beginning the tonic was beneficial. Not only has it stopped my hair from falling, but it has produced an entirely new growth. My hair is now soft and glossy, where before it was harsh, brittle and dull. I shall recommend Rexall Hair Tonic to all my friends." MILDRED SEELEY, 148 East 57th Street, New York City.

In buying REXALL 93 HAIR TONIC you take no chances whatever. If after a trial you are not more than satisfied, we will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.

Bottle is four times this size.

THE STORY OF "93"

When the formula for Rexall Hair Tonic was secured from the most eminent hair specialist in the land, we realized that we had something far out of the ordinary. We had heard of its wonderful work, but the Rexall plan is to test every remedy thoroughly before offering it to the public. In this case we determined that for a name we would give this remedy a number representing the test cases in which it proved successful.

We wrote to one hundred druggists in as many cities asking each to send us the name of one of his customers who had lost his hair or who suffered with dandruff or other scalp disease. Then we sent each of these one hundred people three bottles of our new remedy with the request that he give it a trial and report the result.

Of the entire number, five did not answer at all. Two wrote adverse reports, saying our restorative had not made hair grow on their heads, though it later developed that these men had been bald for so many years that the follicles in their scalps had become closed. But the other ninety-three, as one man, spoke of our remedy in the most enthusiastic manner, pronouncing it the greatest discovery of the age and telling in detail of the splendid effects in each individual case.

This is where we got the name 93 Hair Tonic. Could any other name be so significant of merit? Any test have been more fair? Any results more encouraging?

Sold only at our store. Large Bottle, 50c. Mail orders filled.

SULTAN SENDS HORSES AS GIFT TO PRESIDENT

Six Beautiful Arabian Stallions Come From Ruler of Morocco for Mr. Roosevelt.

New York, Feb. 5.—Six beautiful Arabian stallions, a gift from the sultan of Morocco to President Roosevelt, arrived on the Hohenzollern from Tangiers. The gift is reciprocal, as President Roosevelt had presented the sultan one horse, one mule, five dogs and two goats.

The Arabian steeds are from the royal stables at Fez. They were sent down from Fez to Tangiers on the ancient railroad, accompanied by four men and two boys, accomplishing the journey in the record time of ten days and three hours.

With the exception of one stallion, which is 7 years old, an animal that the sultan has ridden himself, the steeds are 3 and 4 year olds. They came over the seas in the care of Sherreeff Rustel, one of the sultan's horse trainers; Mohammed Ben Jel Ali, a Moorish guide; the baggage-master of the Hohenzollern, and two sailors. Vice Consul Langemann engaged the two Moors for six months. Five of the horses were broken only two months before starting. Saddles and bridles are coming also, in charge of Mr. Langemann, who is looked for on the Deutschland. The saddles are heavily inlaid with gold and silver. The 7-year-old is pure white and the pick of the sultan's stable.

PLACES CUBAN BONDS AT PAR

Island Commission Gets $35,000,000 From New York Men.

Washington, Feb. 5.—A Cuban commission has been quietly operating in New York with a view of placing a loan of $35,000,000, the greater part of the proceeds to be applied to the payment of veteran soldiers of the Cuban army of liberation. The commission has returned to Havana, with the exception of one member, Senor Gonzales de Quesada, the minister resident here. It is stated that success attended its work and that the bonds of the Cuban government will be placed at par with a syndicate of New York capitalists.

GOSSIP ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

Interesting News From the Closing Reports of the Windy City's Mart.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 5.—A very exciting opening characterized the wheat market with a wide range in prices. A swift plunge of two and one-half cents and a gradual rally of one and one-half cents. The trading on a very heavy scale. The bull leader a very heavy seller on the bulge and a heavy buyer on the break. The action was what we expected yesterday and gave the opportunity suggested to buy wheat on a sharp break. The war news over night was alarming and the fear that actual hostilities would begin today was the controlling feature. Shorts were forced in pretty heavily, this supplemented by heavy commission house buying on the break kept the excitement at fever heat during the whole session. The July was relatively stronger than the May the spread narrowing about one cent. As to the future of this market it's difficult to hazard a guess but we think we would rather buy on breaks like today.

Corn got one break today we have been looking for and proved its strength by rallying back to its best price. The trade enormous, heavy realizing and heavier buying on the break. We repeat our advice to buy corn and more on sharp breaks if they come.

Oats had a sensational session and followed the antics of the other markets, breaking two cents and recovering the entire loss. The opportunity was offered to make a bargain purchase. If it comes again buy oats. Provisions active with the other markets with no special feature to the trade. There is a good scalp either way. If May pork has another bulge sell a little.

AWARD FOR INJURY IN SLEEP

Accident Policy-Holder Gets $350 Verdict for Cramped Hand.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 5.—P. H. Fitzgerald has been given a verdict against the Aetna Life for $350 on an accident policy. Fitzgerald claimed injury to his hand by reason of having slept with it in a cramped position. The case attracted much attention from accident underwriters. Five companies are interested, the Pacific having settled its case out of court.

Blind Woman Dies in Fire.

Whiteside, Mo., Feb. 5.—While Samuel Luckett was absent from home his house was destroyed by fire. The charred bodies of his blind wife and his 10-year-old granddaughter were found in the ruins. It is thought the fire started from Mrs. Luckett's pipe.

The Relief of Windock and Okanahjia.

German southwest Africa, announced in a dispatch, from the commander of the gunboat Hableicht, at Swakopmund, is regarded as ending the aggressive and successful period of the native rebellion and that now begins the punitive phase, in which the German forces nearing Swakopmund by sea will scatter the natives and take their strong places.

Prices for lessons in the domestic science department of the Racine Manual Training school have gone up. The increase is attributed to the fact that prices of eggs and groceries are higher. Peter S. Neergaard, Anders Neergaard, and Rasmus Christensen, arrested two weeks ago on a charge of violating the game laws by shipping pike from Kenosha to Illinois, were found guilty in justice court and fined $50 with costs. Mayor Peter B. Nelson of Racine, who was defending the men, gave notice of an immediate appeal.

DR. NICHOLAS SENN MAY JOIN MIKADO'S ARMY

Eminent American Likely to Take Charge of Surgical Department in Case of War.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 5.—Dr. Nicholas Senn, the eminent surgeon of Chicago, while in Japan two years ago was solicited by the late Prince Kumatsu that in the event that Japan went to war he was to take charge of the surgical department of the mikado's army. Dr. Senn arrived here on his way to Chicago, and is expecting to receive a summons from the Tokio government.

Dr. Senn arrived from Tahiti on the steamship Mariposa, and will hurry back to Chicago to arrange his private affairs to prepare himself for the expected call. Two years ago while visiting in Japan, Dr. Senn was the guest of the highest medical officials of the government and was given a banquet by the officers of the Red Cross society of the empire, under whose charge the army medical department is directed.

The late Prince Kumatsu, who then was president of the Red Cross society of Japan, and acting in behalf of the government, entered into an agreement with Dr. Senn that he should go to Japan if war was declared. Dr. Senn said that if his services were needed he would quickly respond and will probably take a corps of surgeons with him.

SENATOR HANNA IN BAD SHAPE

All of His Organs Are More or Less Affected by Disease.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Senator Hanna is in a very precarious condition. It is clear that the crisis in his illness has not been reached, and the best that can be held out to his friends is that, if he recovers, he will be compelled to abstain from business and other activity for months to come. It was feared that Senator Hanna was going to develop symptoms of Bright's disease. It also was feared that his heart weakness might add to the complications, and it was within the realm of medical possibility that he had malignant malaria. A very thorough physical examination was given the patient. This revealed that while most of the organs were without any pronounced disease they were all more or less affected. Senator Hanna's heart action was found to be bad; his kidneys were not working well; his liver was in very bad condition; his stomach was not working at all and would not even assimilate milk; his lungs were slightly affected and there were other ailments which tended to complicate the case, in addition to his great loss of strength and nervous energy.
